AWS MARKETPLACE GTM

SESSION 6 · MULTIPLY

Make AWS sell with you.

The AWS account team is a force multiplier — if you frame to their incentive.
Today we draft the outreach and register the ACE opportunity, live.

1:1 GTM Coaching · Ron Davis · From listed to bought.

Reps don't care about your features.

An AWS seller is measured on customer outcomes and AWS consumption — committed and usage revenue. Frame to that, and you become a tool that helps them hit quota. Frame to your product, and you're noise.

// WHAT THEY'RE MEASURED ON

Customer outcomes

Did the customer succeed and grow on AWS? Your value is the outcome you create for their account.

// WHAT THEY'RE MEASURED ON

Consumption revenue

Committed (EDP/MACC) and usage growth. Show how you drive AWS spend and you're suddenly worth their time.

// THE REFRAME

"Here's how I help your customer win and grow their AWS consumption" — that's the only pitch a rep hears.

Translate every feature into their scorecard before you reach out.

Who you're actually writing to.

"AWS" isn't one person. Five roles touch a co-sell deal, each with a different job. Knowing who does what tells you who to message and what to ask for.

Account rep

Owns the customer relationship and the quota.
Your primary door.

Partner Dev Mgr

Owns the partner relationship
— your advocate inside AWS.

Solutions Arch

Validates the technical fit; can unblock or stall a deal.

Partner team

Programs, competencies, co-sell mechanics and funding.

Customer

The shared account you both serve — the reason to align.

Your starting position.

The right move depends on the relationship you already have with the AWS field. We mark where you actually are — it sets the ask.

00

No relationship

Cold. The play is a warm, outcome-led intro and one specific shared account.

01

Warm

You know a PDM or rep. The play is to bring a real opportunity to register.

02

Active opp

A deal's in motion. The play is to formalize it in ACE and align the close.

The $\leq$ 120-word message.

A rep's inbox is full. The message that gets a reply is short, leads with their customer's outcome, makes one ask, and offers an easy next step.

CONTEXT	Who you are and the one shared customer or segment — in a sentence.
CUSTOMER OUTCOME	The result you create for their account — in their scorecard terms (outcome + AWS consumption).
THE ASK	One specific thing — an intro, a co-sell on account X, a 15-min call.
EASY NEXT STEP	A no-friction yes — "I've drafted the ACE opp; want me to submit it?"

Draft your outreach now.

We write your real message to a real role — to the rep, PDM, or SA you can actually reach — using the four-part frame, on your shared account.

PART	YOUR DRAFT
To (role)	-----
Context	-----
Customer outcome	-----
The ask + next step	-----

The ACE opportunity summary.

This is the artifact that makes co-sell real — a paste-ready opportunity for ACE. We fill every field so it's ready to register, not "someday."

FIELD	YOUR ENTRY
Customer	-----
Use case	-----
Value to customer	-----
AWS consumption impact	-----
Stage / next step	-----

The 5-day follow-up.

One message rarely lands a busy rep. A short, value-adding cadence — not nagging — is what turns a cold note into a co-sell conversation.

DAY	MOVE	WHY IT WORKS
Day 0	Send the outreach message	Short, outcome-led, one clear ask.
Day 2	Add value, don't "bump"	Share the ACE draft or a relevant proof point — give, don't chase.
Day 5	Make the yes effortless	"Want me to submit the opp and tag you?" — a one-word approval.

// THE PRINCIPLE

Every follow-up adds value or it doesn't get sent.

Reps remember partners who make them look good — not partners who poke their inbox.

Six sessions. Six live artifacts.

Look at what's now load-bearing in your GTM — built with you, living in your accounts, plus the scoreboard you keep updating.

Keep the operator running.

You leave with my brain installed in your stack and six artifacts now load-bearing in your GTM. The Skill Pack keeps producing — and when you want it run for you, you know where I am.

// YOU OWN IT

Re-run the Skill Pack

Listing rewrites, pricing, agent-readiness, campaigns, co-sell — any time, in your tool, on your product. Update the scoreboard when a number stalls.

// WHEN YOU WANT DEPTH

Advisory, run for you

When you want volume or done-with-you execution, the advisory retainer is the next rung. Book a call.

// THE RELATIONSHIP ENGINE

Every output your operator produces carries one line: "Want this run for you? Book a call."

You keep getting value. I stay in the room. From listed — to bought.
